DECA Field Trips

According to a new Stanford study, AI is already negatively impacting younger workers in entry-level positions. Researchers found a 13% decline across many occupations - software development and customer service roles being the most impacted. This means that existing roles will get much more competitive.

- There's still time to join DECA!
- DECA District Career Development Conference permission slips are due this Friday!
- AT&T on-site Job fair permission slips are also due this Friday.
- Both field trips are FREE for DECA members, but other students may attend - See Mr. Calder in room 107 for details.

Take a chance, step up, and gain confidence for your future self.
